EULAR 2024, European Congress of Rheumatology - the primary platform for exchange of scientific and clinical information in Europe, is coming back to Vienna, 12 - 15 June 2024

After 19 years, the EULAR European Congress of Rheumatology will return to Vienna, promising an even more extensive and more enriching experience than ever before - don't miss out on this opportunity to network and learn about the latest updates in the field of Rheumatology!

Special rates for early registration have been available since 1 November 2023. Registration for health professionals in rheumatology (HPR) costs €181 until 31 March 2024. After that date, it will be €190. Important to highlight: Students under the age of 28 can attend for free (proof of status and of age is required)!

Once again, a diverse scientific programme caters to the various healthcare professions, aiming to improve treatment outcomes and care for people with rheumatic and musculoskeletal diseases. Whether you are a clinical practitioner, educator, researcher or student, there are countless exciting topics for you!

Dedicated scientific sessions will address many areas of interest, including interprofessional collaboration, core competencies of health professionals in rheumatology, rheumatic diseases, and cognitive dysfunction to name a few. In addition, you could delve deeper with the Meet the EULAR Expert sessions on various topics. And of course, as every year, there will also be abstract sessions, poster tours and interactive innovation sessions.

In addition to the scientific programme, there will be enough time to meet, exchange ideas and network with health professionals across Europe and beyond. With over 12,500 participants at last year's EULAR 2023 Congress in Milan, Vienna promises an enhanced opportunity for connection, idea-sharing, and the establishment of enduring collaborations this year!

Although English is the official language of the congress, participants from various backgrounds, for whom English is not their native language, are still able to come together and communicate with ease. The primary goal is to exchange knowledge, thoughts, and experiences that surpass language barriers.
